Senior Class Council

How Do You Spell Relief? ... S-e-n-i-o-r-s

Kristin Thornburgh — President

When asked to look back on my senior year, I felt compelled to relate some of my experiences and feelings in relation to Covina High during the '81-82 school year.

The year began like any other year, except for one thing, my friends and I could now walk through the quad without fear. We were seniors, but other than that, things were pretty much the same as always.

The year before we had had a championship football team, and even though in '81 things didn't go as smoothly, we all still loved our guys. A feeling of closeness hung over most seniors and tended to pull us together despite those petty arguments and vicious rumors. After all the majority of us had known each other for at least three years and were acquainted with each other for even more.

As I reflect on this one year, I must look back even farther to my freshman year when I held the mighty seniors in such awe. To me, they were gods. Imagine being allowed to stand in the senior quad, go off campus for lunch, even take government! They seemed so confident, so at ease with the situation, so tall. Now I wonder why I ever felt that way. As a senior, I was not overly confident, being caught off campus without a pass scared me to death, and I only stood 5'5" tall. Maybe some freshman somewhere put me on a pedestal for some reason, but I surely don't know why. The only difference between the class of '82 and the class of '85 was age, and a few egos.

As president of my class, I feel I should be saying something profound and distinguished, but my senior year did not fit that category. We were not, for the most part, a stuffy bunch of eggheads, but rather a group of fun-loving, sociable people. Maybe in ten years I will regret spoiling my one chance to say something deep that will be recorded and stored forever, but what could be more truthful, what in ten years I wish I would've said, or what I've said now?

Steve Hill — Vice-President

Nadine One — Secretary and Tim Chin — Treasurer

A terrible mixture of sadness and joy comes over me when I think of my last year at CHS. We all had so much fun, so many laughs, so many tears, and so much love. Never have I hugged so many people than during the '81-82 year. Both the girls and guys were close to one another. Although cliques and gossip abounded, when it came down to it, we all knew we were seniors of Covina High, united and one.

Now that I have said my goodbyes and wiped the tears from my eyes, I would like to say thank you to the class of '82, the faculty, the administrators, and the future seniors. Without you, it would have all been worthless.

And to you fellow classmates, from your president, good luck, good lives, and don't ever forget ... Here's to our dear Covina High. Here's to the school we LOVE!

The senior year is a time for becoming an adult, acting like a child, planning for college, studying for government, having fun, and saying goodbye. The 81-82 senior year was no different. Although they stirred up chaos on occasion, the seniors also managed to retain a mellow, yet positive attitude toward Covina High. Yes, they had their fun, but there were always sports and grades to consider. Many also participated in various clubs around campus. Class council itself boasted almost forty members.

The class of 82, under the leadership of Kristin Thornburgh, sponsored such activities as the senior slide show, the senior picnic, and various fund raisers. One such fund raiser involved the sale of maroon cheer mills.

The slide show, designed by James Broadbent, Steve Anderson, and Jeff Wilson with the help of the Senior class council, showed various candid shots of every senior and many miscellaneous pictures of the entire student body.

Many seniors were involved in the senior parents committee to plan the all-night party, held at the Anaheim Recreation Center. These students had a hand in all decisions and participated in raising money for the party.

Seniors also were able to buy a Senior T-shirt sold by class council. These shirts complimented the yearbook by sharing the same logo, "Have a Colt and a Smile," created by Debbie Colson. Carrie Landon designed the shirts.

Although these events seem important, most seniors will more likely remember the fun, leisure times that often occurred on campus. Lunching in the quad then hunting for a trash can could be described as a typical senior pastime and imitating football players another. Brunches were often spent finding out who took the government test and what was on it. Probably the most popular of all senior activities involved the spreading of rumors and gossip, not the most positive, but undoubtedly the most widely practiced of all such senior activities. For the most part, the senior year was a good one and will be remembered with high thoughts by the majority of the class of '82.

Pride Built a Better Way

Mr. Richard Prieur

Mr. Richard Prieur retired from teaching at the close of the 81-82 school year after serving at Covina High for 28 years. This was an unfortunate loss for the school, yet a deserved rest for Mr. Prieur.

Almost everyone on the Colt campus knew Mr. Prieur, for his class, Geography of the US, was essential in a freshman's schedule. Possibly the first face students knew was that of this man. He welcomed them to their new surrounding in such a way that no one would dare feel scared. This was accomplished by threats, jokingly executed, of course, yet still threats.

To say that most Covina High girls loved Mr. Prieur is correct, yet possibly a better statement would be that Mr. Prieur loved all Covina High girls. And that he did. It was almost impossible for any student of the female gender to walk by him without receiving a wink, a smile or a friendly hello.

Probably the best words ever used to describe this teacher would have been an "old softie." A simple smile could warrant an easier homework assignment, a lengthy conversation might have worked wonders.

Students will probably remember Mr. Prieur for his funny lectures, his son, who frequently visited the classroom, or his supposedly unknown way of spying on students taking tests in the classroom from the bathroom next door.

More than all of this, though, Covina High will remember Richard Prieur for his long years of dedicated service to both the academic and sports programs on campus. He was both an excellent teacher and a great track coach.

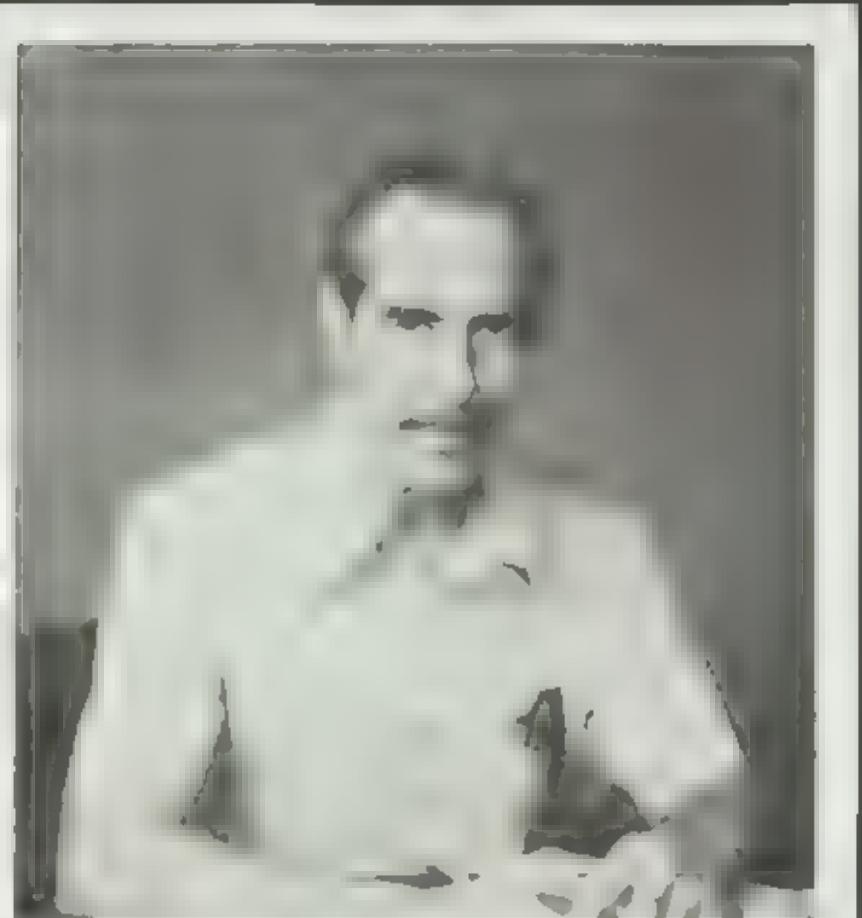

Goodbye Mr. Prieur, Covina High was lucky to have had you on her grounds for so many years.

Dover Beach

The sea is calm tonight!
The tide is full, the moon lies fair
Upon the Straits — on the French coast, the light
Gleams, and is gone; the cliffs of England stand,
Glimmering and vast, out in the tranquil bay
Come to the window, sweet is the night air!
Only, from the long line of spray
Where the sea meets the moon-blanch'd sand.
Listen! you hear the grating roar
Of pebbles which the waves suck back and fling,
At their return, up the high strand,
Begin, and cease, and then again begin,
With tremulous cadence slow, and bring
The eternal note of sadness in

Ah, love, let us be true
To one another! for the world, which seems
To lie before us like a land of dreams,
So various, so beautiful, so new,
Hath really neither joy, nor love, nor light,
Nor certitude, nor peace, nor help for pain;
And we are here as on a darkling plain
Swept with confused alarms of struggle and flight,
Where ignorant armies clash by night

— Matthew Arnold

Mr. John Ewing
February 26, 1925-January 12, 1982

The Few, the Proud, the Colts

Senior VIP's are chosen each year by the senior class of Covina High. The students who comprise this special group are generally popular and are recognized by unique traits.

The class of '82 student council decided to revise the list of categories. After several hours of brainracking concentration, they came up with one new title, "Senior VIP — Best Laugh."

The students chosen for the "Best All-Around," Judith Alex and Mark Arvidson, proved to the school during their four years at CHS that they were both exactly that, best all-around. Judith was chosen for 1981 Fall Homecoming Queen and Mark presided as A.S.B. president.

Friendliest, Jennifer Kimsey and Jim Gray, made everyone on the Colt campus feel welcome by always providing conversation, even on the worst possible days.

Karen Bernier and Rob Peterson, selected as seniors who do the most service, were almost always found busily at work somewhere around campus. In addition to various other responsibilities, Karen held the position of A.S.B. Vice-President and Rob, Commissioner of Public Relations.

The two seniors who were chosen most likely to succeed, Evelyn Wong and Tim Chin, have had success follow them throughout life. Evelyn, A.S.B. Secretary of Finance, and Tim Chin, Sr. Class Treasurer, proved themselves constantly at Covina.

Becky Seybold and Dave Bailey were frequently seen, but not heard, about the Colt campus. Although these two did receive recognition as the shyest seniors, they were popular and very well-liked.

- 1 Best All-Around — Judith Alex and Mark Arvidson
- 2 Friendliest — Jenny Kimsey and Jim Gray
- 3 Most Service — Karen Bernier and Rob Peterson
- 4 Most Likely to Succeed — Evelyn Wong and Tim Chin
- 5 Shyest — Becky Seybold and Dave Bailey

Senior Vip's

When visiting the quad or A.S.B. office, seniors were often greeted with the unmistakeable laughter of one or the other of the "Senior VIP — Best Laugh" nominees, Dionthe Christy and Steve Anderson. By themselves Dion or Steve could cause any number of people to begin chuckling. Together the pair could cause mass hysteria.

Denise Lacy and Ken Boogren were always on top of fashion, therefore, were they rightfully chosen as best dressed. Denise must have "raked out the bucks" for her cute clothes and Ken likewise, as always, had just the right clothes for every occasion.

The best looking seniors, Kathy Henson and Dave Lupu, stole many a poor soul's heart during their years at CHS. Their good looks were apparent even as far away as the football field for Dave and the cheerleading platform for Kathy.

Theresa O'Hara and Nick Warren

voted as the two seniors with the best bods, turned many a head as they moved about campus. Theresa maintained her good figure by cheerleading and being a member of the track team and Nick, on the other hand, played football and pumped weights to keep his bod the best it could be.

The most attractive feature of the face, the eyes, was the most outstanding feature of Becky Jenkins and Rich Esquivel. Their eyes drew others to Becky and Rich like magnets, with just a simple glance.

Joe Livingston and Mary Harrison, chosen as the seniors with the best smiles, could always be seen flashing their pearly-whites. Joe and Mary always had something to smile about which caused a chain-reaction of smiles and grins from their fellow seniors.

- 1 Best-Laugh — Steve Anderson and Dionthe Christy
- 2 Best-Dressed — Denise Lacy and Ken Boogren
- 3 Best-Looking — Dave Lupu and Kathy Henson
- 4 Best Bod — Nick Warren and Theresa

O'Hara
5 Best Eyes — Becky Jenkins and Rich Esquivel
6 Best Smile — Joe Livingston and Mary Harrison

Seniors Vip's

The two biggest flirts on campus were Cindy Barkowitz and John Volzke. They were always being super sweet and "kissy, kissy" to just about any of their friends or even strangers on campus.

Paula Fitzgerald and Rod Sturdivant could always be seen clowning around just about anywhere on campus. Paula and Rod, a couple of "cards," made school a great deal more enjoyable for students and teachers alike.

The two seniors always yelling the loudest at athletic events and rallies were Julie Page and Jim Broadbent. They not only got the crowd "hyped" up, but also fired up the team with their great enthusiasm.

Dave and Becky, as you already know, the two shyest seniors at CHS, came out from the crowd to show their face.

Jeff Wilson and Robin Requarth were voted as the two most talented students on campus. Jeff contributed his talents in the field of music and on the basketball court while Robin was thinking of new routines for her Drill Team Unit and keeping yearbook organized as Editor-in-Chief.

The most athletic students on campus were John Hardwick and Robin Letourneau. John won his fame as being the quarterback of the Colt's football team and a star member of the basketball-baseball squads. Robin received the honor for being a standout on the girls' Varsity Volleyball, Basketball and Softball teams.

- 1 Biggest Flirts — Cindy Barkowitz and John Volzke
- 2 Class Clowns — Paula Fitzgerald and Rod Sturdivant
- 3 Most Spirited — Julie Page and Jim Broadbent
- 4 Shyest — Becky Seybold and Dave Bailey show their faces
- 5 Most Talented — Robin Requarth and Jeff Wilson
- 6 Most Athletic — Robin Letourneau and John Hardwick

Associated Student Body

When ASB Talks... ...People Listen

The Associated Student Body Council, a group of elected students, represented the entire student body of Covina High School in all aspects of student government and activities planned throughout the year. The ASB Council was faced with many responsibilities including planning and organizing day to day events that helped make the time spent in high school a much more memorable and enjoyable experience for all. The Council also set many goals for the future ranging from improvement of the general campus area, to promoting school spirit and outside involvement from other students besides those already actively involved.

Mark Arvidson, the elected president of this active group, worked daily with the administration, the ASB Council, and the Director of Activities, carefully planning each day's events. Aiding the President was very able Vice-President, Karen Bernier.

The ASB Council this year was blessed with the arrival of Covina High's new ASB Advisor, Mr. Russell Butcher. He was an enormous asset to the ASB Council by guiding them in budgeting their funds efficiently and properly, organizing meetings, and happenings throughout the year. His optimistic view towards school activities and straight forward nature made this year a most memorable and successful time for all.

Mr. Russell Butcher
Director of Student Activities

Mark Arvidson
ASB President

As the year comes to a close we can look back at all the good times we've had and the new friends we've made. As a freshman entering Covina in '78, I knew only two students. To all the friends I've made, to all the sincere, caring people, to all the people who made my day with a warm smile, I can't thank you enough for sharing a small part of your life, which made my four years at Covina a rewarding experience.

We need to take time to be friendly, to smile, to extend small courtesies, we often omit, to show love to our family. In order to get the most out of life, we must always think "positive." "Don't complain that roses have thorns; but be thankful that thorns have roses."

Despite the many crisis in the world such as inflation, population explosion, hunger, we do have hope. Jesus said, "I am the light of the world. You follow me and give your life to me and I'll take you out of the darkness of this world; out of this confusion, out of this mess that you are in and I'll give you peace and joy. A light will burn in your heart and mind that you never had before."

We Do It All for You

The school year of '81 and '82 was a great year for our Associated Student Body. This year ASB added two new chairmen to our ASB. They were Robin Requarth who held the position of fund raising chairman and Judith Alex who held the position of pep chairman. With the help of those two new chairmen and our new Director of Activities Mr. Russell Butcher our ASB raised a lot of money and helped to make the year great.

Presidents and Legislators

Every year each class has their presidents and four legislators and every year they work together and succeed but this year our classes really succeeded

The classes did great and a lot of this help came from the presidents and the legislators. The legislators are four elected representatives from each class who are part of the associated student body. These four representatives help make ideas for the activities of the year and all presidents do the same to represent their classes. This year was a terrific one all the classes raised a lot of money wisely

The seniors raised a lot of money through their fundraiser the Covina Colt cheer mits

The juniors also made a lot of money. Last year it was a success and this year too. They sold the candy apples and came through great

The Sophomores really repaired their funds with the many fundraisers, but their best was the Covina Colt mugs

The Freshmen sold the Covina Colt sweat shirts. This was a terrific fundraiser and they raised a lot of money

The Colts had a great year and we are looking forward to many more

Doing What We Do Best!

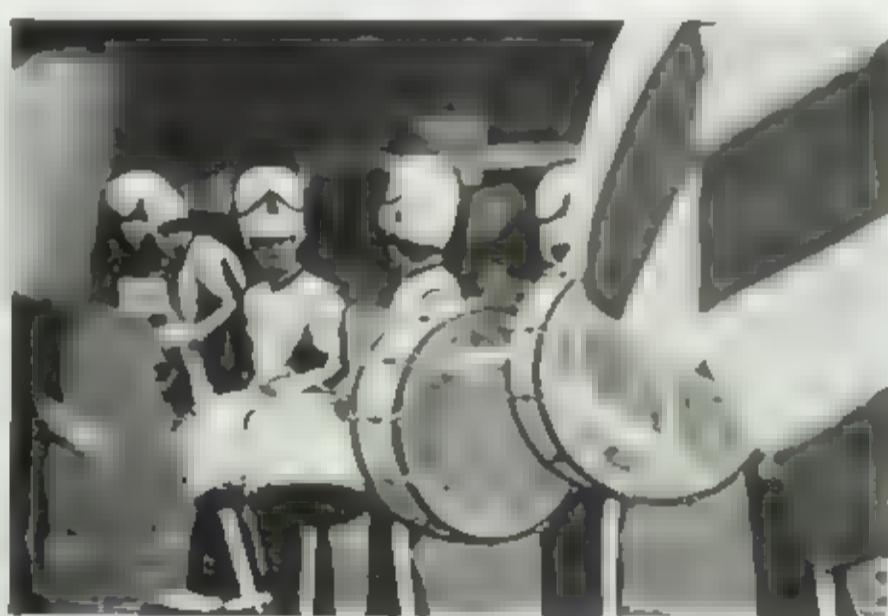

Following many years of tradition, the Colossal Colt Band, Rhythmette Drill Team, and Tall Flags combined to perform in this year's parades and football game halftimes. The Colts were once again showcased in the Covina Christmas Parade and the Maytime Band Review at National City.

The Band, under the direction of Drum Major John Lacy and Band Director Mr Green, performed at pep rallies and basketball games as well as parades and halftimes. They were again successful in putting on the spectacular Mid-Winter Concert.

Robin Requarth and Nadine Ono headed the Rhythmette Drill Team with the help of advisors Mrs. Severn and Mrs. Quillicy. These girls performed in parades and attended other competitions such as Disneyland and Arroyo, where competition is drawn from around the entire state of California.

Highly regarded by other competing Tall Flag units, Covina's Tall Flags have honored our campus with their past trophies and titles. The flags were led by Denise Lacy under the direction of Mrs. Alexander.

Catch That Pep-y Spirit

The 1981-82 year was an especially exciting time for the Covina High Pep Units

The girls started practices early during the summer and spent four, long, hard days at the U.S.A. Cheerleading Camp in Santa Barbara. At camp, they spent many hours on workouts, cheers, exercises, and routines. They were also instructed in spirit, and how to get it across and into the school

Once school had started the units were immediately challenged, having a home football game the first week of school. All cheers and routines had to be made-up, taught to the entire unit, and memorized

The backbone of the Pep Squads was Mrs. Bonnie Letourneau. This most amazing woman supports the units from beginning to end and then some. She is a full-time advisor, teacher, mother, and friend to all of the girls

The Pep Units consisted of a Varsity Cheer Squad, Songleaders, Flag Twirlers, JV Cheer Squad, and Coli Mascots. All of the units showed special talent and enthusiasm this year of '81-'82. The girls brought spirit and excitement to rallies, brunches, and games

Many old traditions were brought back, such as the victory bell, brunch rallies, raffling-off the game ball, and spirit ribbons. New ideas were also founded at Covina; for example, new cheers were taught to the students, and entire rallies were sponsored and put on by the units

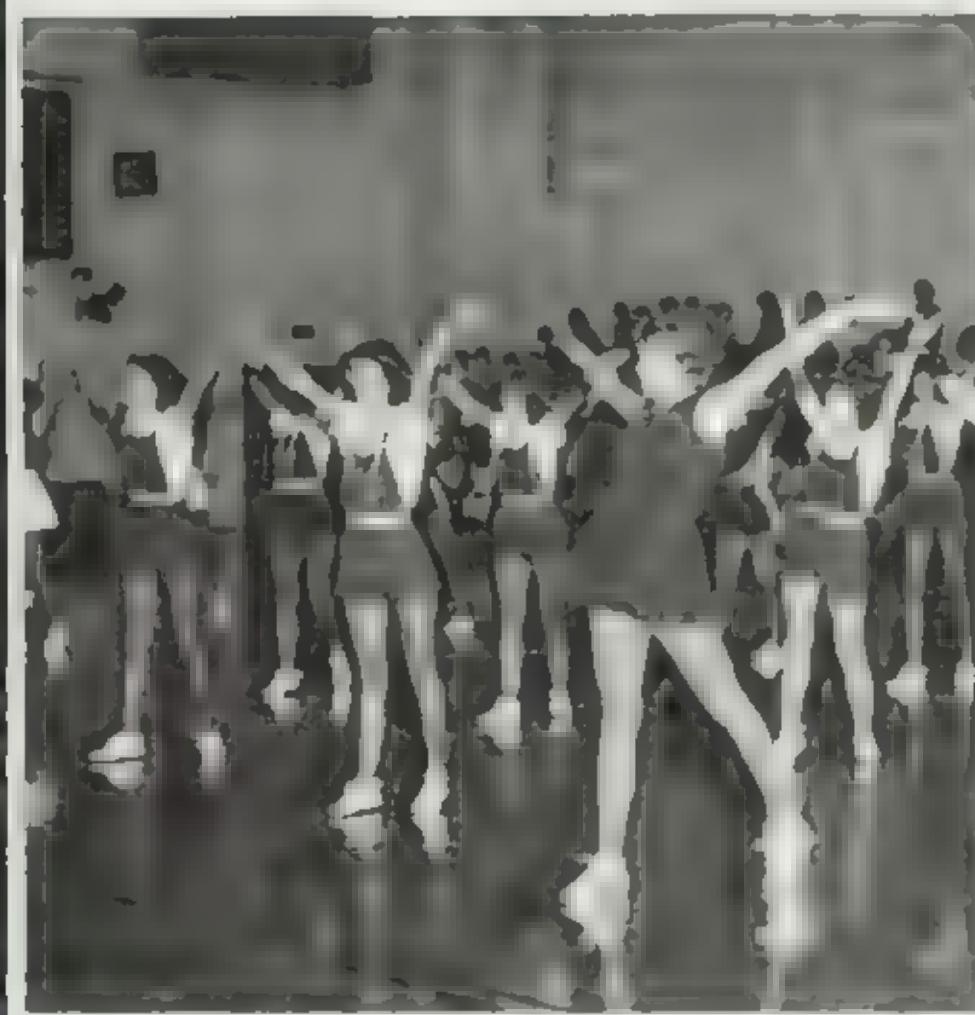

Yes, this was an especially exciting and rewarding year for the Covina High Pep Units

Deadlines, just a word to some, but to the Covina High Yearbook Staff, their life's blood. Under the superb guidance of Robin Requarth and Judy Kaumeyer, Editor-In-Chief and Assistant Editor respectively, the yearbook staff strived and succeeded to make the yearbook unique and memorable to the Covina High Student Body. Robin and Judy did not work alone, they were assisted by Mrs. Watkins. All together, as a single unit, the yearbook staff was dedicated to the annual and to dear Covina High.

Journalism

C & W Brings You Back to Life

The Cardinal and White, a weekly eight page publication helped students and faculty alike remain informed and entertained throughout the entire school year.

Boasting a talented staff, the newspaper proceeded to show Covina High the meaning of good journalism. With its four senior editors, Kristin Thornburgh, Editor-in-Chief, Linda Arizaga and James Broadbent, Co-News Editors, and Chris Ender Sports Editor, and its advisor, Mrs. Mary Watkins, the C & W continued to publish an excellent paper with each edition. Under advisor Mr. Dennis Clark, print shop managed to flatter the pages of the Cardinal and White with wonderful printing clarity.

Varsity sports writer, Rod Sturdivant and feature writer Greg Golley kept everyone informed and amused with articles like Varsity Football, The Stones, and the print shop feature. Also popular were the "Did You Know?" and "Question of the Week" columns.

"Journalism is in a class all by itself." This phrase, once written in a "Did You Know?" column, was certainly true for the '81-'82 school year in journalism. Not only was the staff segregated from other classes, in G-2 instead of G-4, it tended to house some of the most unique students on campus, strange yet unique. With such personalities as those on the newspaper staff, the class had a roaring good time once the work was done. One favorite pastime consisted of scootin' around on chairs with wheels, which Mrs. Watkins had obtained early in the year.

Another popular activity the staff participated in was entitled "Girl and Sports Talk." In this fun pastime, the boys gathered around the Editor-in-Chief's desk relating wonderful stories of their past dates and grand experiences at practices and games, while the girls listened in horror.

Aside from these slightly off color events, the newspaper staff remained sane and continuously published an outstanding newspaper. Maybe now you can tell why it was so excellent.

Colts are Beautiful People

The Girls' Athletic Association GAA — consisted of many girls who were active in many sports. The girls sports were cross country, track basketball, swimming, tennis, volleyball, badminton, and golf. The club has been in existence since the beginning of Covina High School and has been a very popular club on campus since its early beginning. The club's adviser was Mrs. Nancy Penne. There was also a board that consisted of the president, vice-president, secretary-treasurer, and a representative of each sport.

The job of the president was to run all the meetings and design the cover of the banquet book. The vice-president presided if the president was absent. The secretary-treasurer took care of the minutes for the meetings and accounted for all the monies which were earned by the members. Each of the sports-representatives acted as liaison for the teams and added her fresh ideas to help the club run as smoothly as possible.

The GAA successfully sold the famous Bonus Books and had many other successful fund raisers, which were necessary for the purchase of the many extra awards which were awarded at the annual banquet at years end. The girls were able to meet all their goals and there was a happy group at the banquet to celebrate the wins and successes for the entire year.

The Ones to Watch!

President — Karen Bernier

This productive club was a group of senior, junior, and sophomore girls. They accomplished many things such as giving a weekly goody to all the guys in competitive sports. The newly-added Winter Semi-Formal Dance was sponsored by this active club. The dance was held at the Joslyn Center in Kelby Park on December 12, 1981 and will always be a night to remember for those who attended the gala affair. The music was provided by Longshot.

In the spring, the two main activities were the Carnation sale and the Sadie Hawkins Dance. Because of the able handling of Karen Bernier these events were an even greater success than had been in years gone by.

The new advisor, Mrs. Schlenz, provided much assistance and spirit for the girls. The year was one of the finest the club had ever enjoyed and they left a great legacy for those who would follow them.

Wycaipians

We're Doing Our Share

Wycaipians is one of the popular girls' service clubs at Civina. The twenty members of this club worked vigorously to make up for the small number in attendance. Their advisor, Mr. Ewing, was a tremendous help and his assistance was greatly appreciated.

The first event of the year for the Wycaipians was planning and producing a Halloween party for the Leroy's Boys Home in La Verne.

One of their biggest productions of the year was the Luau Dance. Time was spent all year raising funds to make this a very memorable event for every student. The girls sponsored bake sales, candy sales, and car washes.

Something new to the Wycaipians was having secret pals. Once a month everyone would bring a gift to the meeting for the person that they had drawn as their secret pal. All the girls really enjoyed participating in this and hopefully it will be continued in the future.

At the end of the year it was time to say "good-bye" to the five graduating seniors and "hello" to some new members. To join the club, any girl simply filled out an application and then went through Neophyte week. This consisted of wearing unusual costumes, singing on the outdoor stage, and obeying the wishes of their Big Sisters. It's an exciting way to end the school year and give the new members something to look forward to in the fall.

Girls' League

We Bring Good Things to Life

Girls' League has been an active and extremely successful service club at Covina High School for many years. As time passed Girls' League members became more enthusiastic and involved with their numerous activities. This well-known club sponsored many popular events such as the Mother-Daughter Banquet, Father-Daughter Banquet, Senior-Parent Tea and brand new, the Pumpkin-Gram, Halloween candy sale.

The 1981-82 Girls' League consisted of seven dedicated officers and over fifty participating Freshmen, Sophomore, Junior and Senior members. These hardworking girls served on committees, which took care of reserving banquet rooms, designing tickets and programs, decorating, and providing entertainment for upcoming events. The members of this club met at 7:30 every Monday morning to keep everything rolling smoothly. In order to raise money for their many happenings, they held bake sales and a candy sale.

President Judith Alex, with the assistance of Vice-President Pam Godinez and advisors Joan Delzangle and Catherine Kelley, helped to lead this club towards its many goals and achievements and made Girls' League better than ever.

CSF, under the advisement of Mrs. Beverly Hertel managed to complete yet another highly successful year as the only academically-based club on campus. To attain membership, one must have achieved at least three A's and one B in academic subjects during a semester. The club was ably led by two-term President Steve Anderson and assisted by Secretary Jim Broadbent, Treasurer Mark Arvidson, Historian Jeff Wilson and Sergeant at Arms Greg Golley. Partly due to the efforts of these officers and Mrs Hertel, the 1981-82 California Scholastic Federation achieved one of its highest membership and involvement rates in recent years. In addition to their traditional role as servers at the annual Parent Conference Night, CSF also took two trips to the Hertel's cabin at Lake Arrowhead and many excursions to local colleges. CSF will most certainly continue its upward trend and strive for even greater recognition and achievements in the field of academics in the future.

The Sound of Music

On March 6, the 30th Annual Mid-Winter Concert, "Fantasia Eclatant," took place in the Covina High gym. Mr. Robert L. Green, Director of Instrumental Music for twenty years, conducted the groups of young musicians while Covina High alumnus, Steve Gottlieb, served as master of ceremonies.

Overseeing the spectacular event was Concert Coordinator Cindi Faires and Assistant-Coordinator Vince Cowles. Ken Pretell held the position of Concert Master.

The '81-'82 Drum Major was John Lacy. Kevin Smith served as Drum Captain while Senior Mickey Valdez held the position of Band Manager. The Triad Council cabinet included Cindi Faires, President; Jeff Wilson, Vice-President; Kathy Smith, Secretary; Vince Cowles, Treasurer; and Tobi Hernandez, Historian.

Three groups of superior musicians entertained at the concert on March 6. The first to perform was the Concert Band which was composed of all band members. They played many dynamic pieces such as "Firefall" and "Sounds of Hollywood."

Next on the program was the Jazz Ensemble. These talented players performed both jazz and popular music. Solos were performed by Mickey Valdez, Tom German, Doug Ono, John Thompson, Kevin Campbell, and Ted Kovach.

The Wind Ensemble, made up of the best players from the instrumental music classes, was next to perform. The members' superior musicianship earned them the distinction of playing in this select group. Their program included highlights from "Camelot," "The Klaxon," and other dramatic selections. The evening drew to a conclusion with the playing of "America the Beautiful" by the concert band.

Concert Choir and Chorus

We'd Like to Teach the World to Sing

卷之三

But the ~~beginning~~ Spring concerts were brief in the young High School, a drama and student pageant were staged at the same time. The former was a musical drama in two parts by the music staff. The treatment of the drama was a series of scenes in which numbers with Christmas and Hanukkah in both subjects were added to the singing of a major work one in Latin.

The Concert Choir and the Girls Chorus both appeared at the YWCA and Gobert & Howe traveled to the West Covina Fashion Plaza, PTA luncheons, churches among other places to sing. Thus the vocalists experienced public exposure and were given more opportunity to use their talents.

the vocalists experienced piano exposure and were given more opportunity to use their talents. Of course, not all musicals are built around musical numbers, but the musicals are the early every other aspect of a full scale musical production, — set construction, costuming, publicity pro-grains, which seemed strikingly like ours. It was next Pomeroy, the first town in great importance on the prairie. It is a little larger than any of the other settlements, and has a good deal of the appearance of a town from the number of persons and the number of houses. The prairie here is very flat, and the houses are built in a simple, rustic style. The people are mostly of German extraction, and are very poor. The men are mostly laborers, and the women are mostly housekeepers. The town is situated on a small stream, which flows into the Missouri River about a mile to the west. The three high school choirs, Intermediate, Junior and Senior, The Chorus with an all-female group, Senior boys' choir and the Intermediate boys' choir, all sing full part harmony in soprano, alto, tenor and bass. In addition to songs sung by each group, the two combine on some numbers creating a seventy-member choir. Both require a class during school and after school work directed by Dr. Frederic Basset-Shone with accompaniment on piano from Mrs. Janice Gandy.

Another year was exciting and fulfilling in this area of high school life. Choral music saw its greatest growth with the enrollment and attendance. The singers demonstrated an interest in music that is not being found now for some time. The expectation is the sounds will keep on singing.

Spring Musical

Oklahoma's — OK

In 1982, under the able direction of Dr. Frederic Bacon-Shone the choral department of Covina High School performed the great Rogers and Hammerstein musical, "OKLAHOMA!" The entire production was handled by members of Concert Choir and Chorus, with assistance on sets, lights and props from Mr. Hoog and members of his art department. The cast of "OKLAHOMA!" received help with the drama from Mrs. Duder and Mrs. Huelsmeyer assisted with the choreography.

Dr Bacon-Shone's wife, Robin, and Mrs. Joanne Gruba handled the casting. In order to involve as many in the group as possible, the leading female roles were all double-cast Senior Rod Stardivari held the leading male role of Curly and opposite him were Roxanna Bell and Karrie Haley as Laurey. Jim Kuehne played the villainous Jud Fry. Other male leads included Joe Petty as Will Parker with John Thompson playing the peddler Ali Hakim and John DelValle as Carnes. Courted by many and saying no to none, were Lisa Davis and Dora Pachas as Ado Annie. Wendy York and Jane Burse held the role of Aunt Eller and Gina Rialto and Teri Norris portrayed Gertie. A small chorus rounded out the performance.

ICC

ICC Starts to Work Before You Start to Play

The Inter-Club Council was made up of all the club presidents and treasurers. This group of hard-working representatives met during the year to nominate students for courts and to work together in promoting school spirit and involvement on the Covina High campus.

As a member of ICC, each treasurer was required to keep a record of her club's funds while they flowed in and out of her account. The president's job was to relay information to his clubs about events discussed in ICC meetings. Presiding over the group was ASB Vice-President, Karen Bernier.

Astronomy

Reaching for the Stars

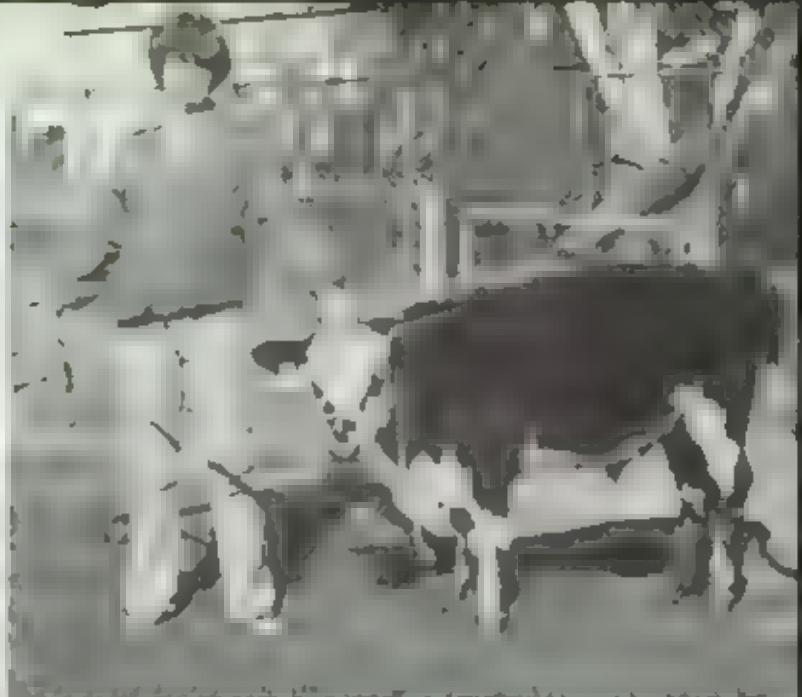

The purpose of the Astronomy Club at Covina High was to promote a greater interest in astronomy and also to further students' knowledge in the field of astronomy. Mark Collins, president of the club and Marian Workman, secretary of the activities, worked together to run meetings and plan the club's events. Mr. Iverson acted as advisor of the club and attended a few of its activities. The members of the club held regular meetings and attended many field trips and night outings. Each month, as close to the new moon as possible, the club took a trip to Azusa Canyon at night in hopes of viewing different celestial bodies. These excursions allowed the members to see for themselves such things as double stars, comets, meteors, nebulae, the moon and all the planets in our solar system. The overall experience of each outing event proved to be educational, enjoyable, and profitable.

You're in Good Hands With FFA

The Future Farmers of America consisted of agriculture students at Covina. Their purpose was to promote excellence in agriculture. The FFA members all had animals to take care of and the job to keep them well and sufficiently fed. There are many animals on the farm at Covina and taking care of them took up most of these students time, and they enjoyed every minute. The group attended the Los Angeles County Fair and the San Francisco Fair and returned with an assortment of ribbons. They were advised by Miss Eckis, head of the agricultural department.

Trippers Club

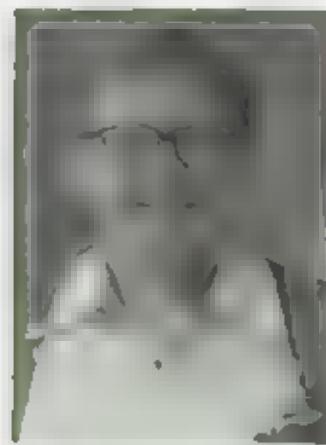

We'll Take You Places

A new club joined the Covina High line-up, the Trippers. The Trippers centered its interest in the area of government. The club's main goal was to take a week long trip to Washington, D C. They had many fund raisers to defray costs of the trip. They held an auction in November and raised $2,000.

The George Washington of the club, Dionthe Christy, said that the trip was informative, interesting, and exciting. The trip to Washington helped to broaden the members' understanding of the many facets of our complex government.

The club advisors, Mr. Robert Ihnsen, Mrs. Evelyn George, and Mr. Weldon Madison, made the trip possible with their help and support.

The club planned to have even more trips in the future. Many more activities were planned for the next few years.

Masque and Dagger Just Playing Along

Raising money and helping with the production of plays was the main goal of the Masque and Dagger club. Since drama at Covina High has slowly disappeared due to the lack of funds, the club played a vital part in keeping the acting breed alive. With the leadership of Steve Hill and Rod Sturdivant, the club succeeded with most of its goals. The club got off to a good start by sponsoring the first annual "Mr. Covina Contest." They also raised money through bake sales, car washes and raffles.

All members were encouraged to try their hand at set construction, lighting, costume design, make-up, sound design, and acting. The club's first goal was to produce the fall play "Blithe Spirit," a comedy by Noel Coward.

Officers of the club and the entire membership hoped to build their a firm foundation for the future. With a foundation set future generations of Colts will be able to perform on stage and entertain their enthusiastic audiences.

Colt Challenge

Varsity Football Our Pride Is Showing

The injury-riddled Covina Colt Varsity football team played with the utmost pride. The Colts lost two to three players a game due to injuries. Despite the injuries to the team, the Colts crushed the Rosemead Panthers 20-0. In this game Darren Dirks, one of the best rushers in the League, rushed for over 100 yards. In League, the Colts traveled to La Puente to blast the Warriors 28-3. In this game, Wayne Griffin and Darren Dirks were the heroes. In League, the Colts took fourth place and put 13 members of the team on the All League Squad. Darren Dirks and Dave Lupu were named to the 1st team. Dave made 1st team linebacker and Darren 1st team fullback. Chris Ender, Rich Esquivel, Courtney Rodriguez and Jim Tritton made 2nd team All League Honorable Mention went to David Bailey, Keith Doucette, Vince Valverde, John Volzke, Wayne Griffin, Eric Wolfe and John Hardwick.

They were not losers, but winners. They played every game at 100% without anyone quitting. They showed great sportsmanship and kept spirit high throughout the season. They learned what it is to believe in yourself. In this season they learned ideas and values that will stay with them throughout the rest of their lives.

The man who kept the great team together was Head Coach Rick Brown. A super person and coach, he kept the team's spirit high and their will strong. Looking toward next year the Colts should have a good team. With a lot of returning varsity players and good coaching, they will be a winning team.

Coming Up to Quality

The J.V. Colts had an uneven season due in part to injuries and hard breaks. Many fine individual efforts were put forth by this club that tried so hard all year to work together. The J.V.'s had many ups and downs and closed the season with a 3 and 6 record.

With the help of Coaches John Ameluxen and Bob Casper, the future looks bright for these up and coming players. Since the team was made-up of many juniors and sophomores, we should see them on next year's winning varsity team.

Freshmen Football Starting Out Fresh

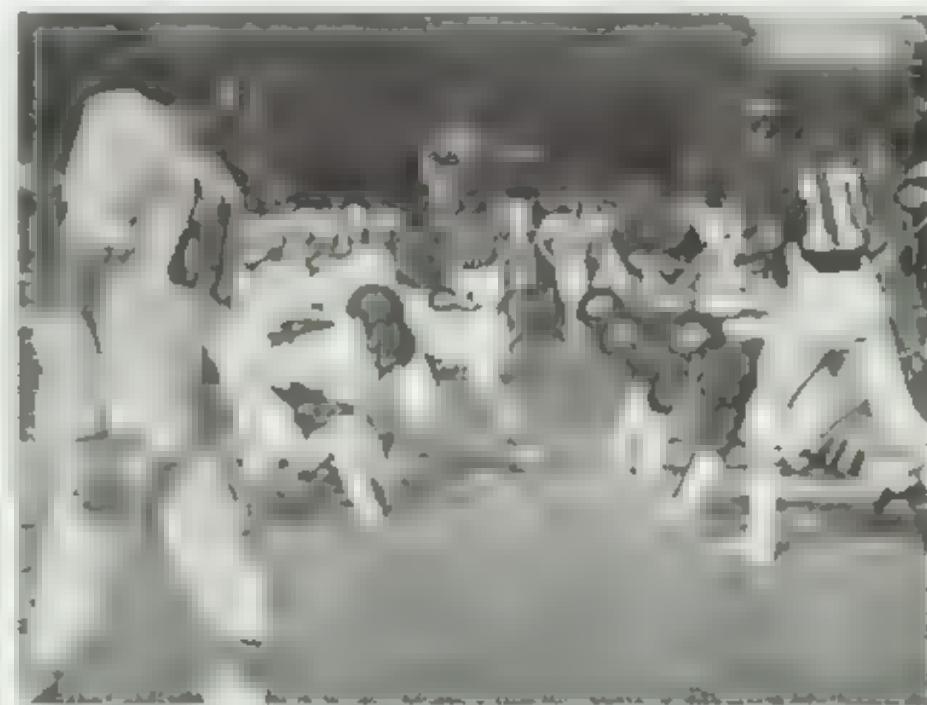

The Covina Colt freshmen team had a year of hard luck and disappointment and finished the season with an 0 and 9 record. The Colts were seemingly in every game, but always came out on the short end of the score. They played well and have the right to pride in their behavior on the field and off. Winning wasn't everything for this team, the experience gained will prove valuable in the future. Now that they have tasted a bit of football fever, the team members are looking forward to three more years of great football. This club should provide Covina with some great future teams. The team had many outstanding players and they will grow and mature until they are the winners they want to be.

Cross Country The Pleasure Lasts Longer

The 1981 Covina Colts' Cross Country Teams were driven by that Covina Colt school spirit as we matched our determined few against the armies of runners that comprised the teams within our league. Pushing ourselves to our current limits, our young and talented team demonstrated, with spectacular efforts, that we could produce by showing continuous growth in personal improvement throughout the entire season. The CIF girls' team, led by senior Jennifer Meyers, placed high against schools throughout the southland as we came in second at the Northridge invitational, third at the MSAC invitational, and second in league. Jennifer Meyers ran an 18:44 (for three miles) school record and was second against a strong field. Colt Star, sophomore Jill Cohen, who ran a 19:56 sophomore record and was sixth in league. Rosie Martiniz, Fedelia Torres, and Betsy Miller gave the needed punch to put the other teams on the slow side of the finish line. Adding to the momentum, frosh record holder Joelle Nieto gave us security by nullifying the fear of finding that strong fifth runner, and Toni Dickey added her part by showing it took a fast runner to make the 1981 Varsity girls' team.

The boys' team was led by senior Bill Lee, who showed great ability to reach within himself and find that secret needed to push himself to the racing limit, which showed in his 15:46 school record effort. Not too many high schools are lucky enough in acquiring two talented frosh runners like Brian Mansred and Kevin Jones. Brian won the Azusa Invitational in a time of 17:07. The other freshman star, Kevin, ran a record breaking time of 17:00. There is a very bright future for Kevin and Brian, maybe a CIF championship. Mike Hanley, Mike Meyers (brother of Jennifer), and Dave Brutty exchanged ranks throughout the season and came through in the key meets. Sophomore Tom Hartman finished up our Varsity boys. Even though the boys did not materialize into a championship team, they showed great pride within themselves as they wore the school colors into battle.

Girls' Varsity Volleyball

Reachin' Up...

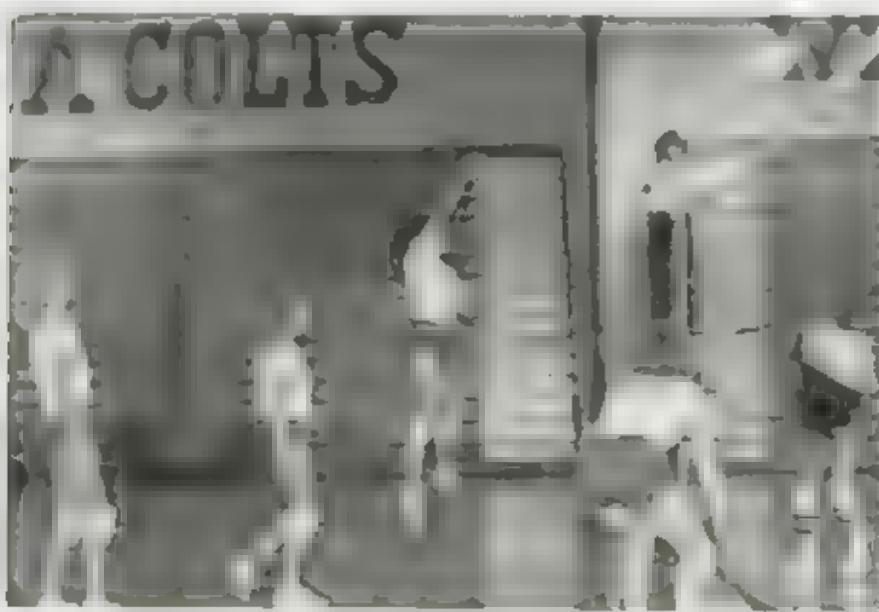

Following the close of the 1981-82 Varsity Volleyball season, the team had all rights to a big, long, low bow. Their many hours of hard, strenuous practice gave them a credible season finish of 8 and 2. They fell short of a league championship by a game that was lost to Workman earlier in the year. Their strong ambitions and iron wills kept the girls' enthusiasm alive and led them well into the CIF championship playoffs.

The team was matched against Brawley High School in the first round of the playoffs. After winning the first three games of the five, they were set up against R. M. of the World High School near Lake Arrowhead. There were considerable odds against the girls. They were playing the Sunkist League Champions who had a record of 10-0, they had been traveling for two long, restless hours, and they were not prepared or trained to play in such high altitudes. The team put up quite a fight, but finally lost to the Scots. Although the Colts were disappointed, the Scots team commented that this was the toughest and longest set of games they had ever played!

Yes, it was a fine year for the entire team, especially for the new varsity coach, Miss Tanya Bowie. She brought many new training techniques and play ideas to the team. Her addition was an obvious boost to the team's spirit and enthusiasm. Because of her admired qualities she brought the team together as a single, whole well-oiled unit.

The JV and Frosh/Soph volleyball teams had an exceptional season. Their outstanding spirit for the game led them to many victories.

The JV team finished second in league with only two losses for the entire season. Their coach, Miss Carol Hockenberry, drove them to great heights and achievements even when they were not sure that they had the ability.

The Frosh/Soph team had an exciting year, also. Filled with enthusiasm and the thrill of victory they seldom agonized over defeat. The Frosh/Soph coach, Miss Ali Garcia, demonstrated outstanding and unusual techniques to the girls. The team finished league with only two losses and finished a fantastic second.

Girls' Tennis

We Demand a Replay

The Girls' Varsity and JV Tennis teams, though very talented, had a disappointing year, which ended with a record of 0-10. Both teams consisted primarily of new players who lacked experience when compared to other schools. The Varsity team had only three returning players from last year's squad, the rest all played tennis for the first time competitively. The teams showed a great amount of stamina and courage and practiced for a good two hours hard each day after school. The girls all stuck together through each match and had a good time even though it might not have turned out in their favor. The girls all felt very confident that next year's team has a better chance in league, because of the experience and skill acquired during the season. Throughout the season the teams suffered no major injuries apart from a few sore wrists.

Margie Reno and Rachel Tawatari represented Covina in the finals as our #1 and #2 single players. Susan Pavelko and Marissa Pocius, and Lisa Cox and Maria Piscopo were teamed for doubles. This year's league finals were held at Covina Hills Racquet Club where the girls competed in a grueling twelve game round against other schools in the league. Everyone did quite well giving their opponents a tough match. Rachel Tawatari won her first round and played in the second round and gave her opponent a scare, but fell in a close match.

Both teams had outstanding coaches. The Varsity team headed by Coach Nancy Pennell has high hopes for next year. She proved to be a good sport supporting her team in times of losing and give her girls the incentive to continue to strive to win. Coach Michael Dole, who headed the JV team, made tennis fun and played on the courts with the girls at practice and gave them important tips.

The Prides the Guide

The Covina High Varsity Basketball team had an exciting 1981-82 season. Though their overall record didn't prove to be too impressive, the Colts battled to the wire with most of their opponents. Led by two returning starters, center Rob Edgell and excellent-shooting guard-forward Tom Gorman, Covina repeated as champions of the Schurr Tournament. Their first round victim was Mountain View, followed by Montebello, and then host Schurr in the finals. Edgell received the tourney Most Valuable Player Award scoring 75 points, with 28 rebounds, 7 blocked shots, and 10 steals in the three games. Rob got much help in rebounding and inside play from sophomore Don Casper and other strong forwards Steve Anderson, Jeff Wilson, and Jim Grey coming of the bench. They were not as successful, however, in the two following pre-season tournaments — Arroyo and their own Twenty-Eighth annual Covina Christmas Tournament. The Colts didn't place in either, but they did open the C.H.S. Tourney with a stunning upset over the always strong Morningside Monarchs. With just a few seconds remaining, Edgell popped in a 25 footer from the corner for a 54-53 first round win. Although they continued to play well the rest of the tournament, Covina fell to West Covina and Blair. Strong guard John Hardwick shot and rebounded consistently well the entire season. His baseline jumpers were a grim sight for the opposition, and kept the team and fans alive during the close games. Head coach Ray Wilson found dependable ball-handling in point-guard Ray Slaboda, who provided the spark needed to trigger this fine ballclub. Coming off the pine were two reliable guards Kevin Carlos and Jim Broadbent. Kevin's strong defense and quick hands caused much aggravation among Colt opponents. Jim was known for his good outside shooting as he showed when entering ball games. This team gave 100% and put a lot of heart into the season. After all, it's how you play the game that shows in the long run!

You Want Your First Crush to Last

The 1981-1982 varsity wrestling team under Head Coach Marc Haygood and Coach Gary Linhart had a fine year. The colts were driven by the determination to win and with their good attitude they did.

The 13 members of the team worked many long and weary hours to achieve their high goals and standards. To be a wrestler one has to be very dedicated, have a strong will and the desire to win. The wrestler has to have everything together, and everything going for him. This sport is demanding not only physically but also mentally. Before a match a wrestler has to get "psyched." This means that he must think only of his upcoming match. He must pull all his strength together so that he may obtain the best possible results. A wrestler must stay in good physical condition throughout the season. The weights in wrestling are divided over 13 groups ranging in weight from 100 to over 247 pounds.

Each wrestler has to make and maintain his own individual weight. Losing weight was on the minds of every boy on the dedicated team. For some this meant long workouts in plastics trying to loose that extra pound and everyone had to watch their diets carefully. Some had to lose as much as ten pounds but for most it was one to four pounds, but all the hard work paid off.

During the preseason the team won seven out of the first nine meets, took sixth in the Costa Mesa Tournament, fourth in the El Rancho Tournament and first in the prestigious 32 team Northview Tournament. In the El Rancho tournament Harry Hearn took first place in his weight division. In the Northview Tournament seven members placed and they were: Lito V. ZRC 10th, Frank Trujillo 1st, Rich Esquivel 2nd, Chris Castro 4th, Vince Valverde 5th, Don Nye 7th and Ken E. Kimerer 8th. Frank Trujillo, only a freshman was voted Most Outstanding Wrestler of the Tournament in the Northview and the Picfica Tournaments. In the future Covina should see even more out of Frank Trujillo. The team was comprised of 6 seniors, 4 juniors, 2 sophomores, and 1 freshman. The year was good and the future looks bright for next years team.

Girls' Varsity Basketball

We're Flying High

The Girls' Varsity Basketball Team had a very successful season this year. Under the excellent coaching of newcomer, Doreen Williams, the Colts went on to become one of the power teams in the Valle Vista League.

The Colts captured third place in the Wilson Wildcat Tournament and Consolation in the La Puente Tournament. After great pre-season and league play, the Colts were well on their way to CIF.

It was hard to single out one or two starring players. Everyone was important to each game including Robin Letourneau, Sue Brancomer, Karen Maybury, Ruby Valdez and Sheila Owens. Each girl helped the Colts to their winning season.

Good sportsmanship is the key to success. Put that together with talented girls and you have a great basketball team. The Colts' performances this year were nothing less than spectacular.

The Frosh-Soph Team, led by alumni coach, Ali Garcia had a rough season this year. Shelly Smith, Christi Fuller, Rosie Martinez and Renee Griffin led the Colts to a terrific season.

Even though the girls had to play outside on the asphalt, their spirit and will to win were not diminished. They played when it was very cold and very hot. These girls had a lot of dedication.

This year's Frosh-Soph Team, with their spirit and dedication, will be the Varsity team of tomorrow. That is the goal for these girls and they will achieve it.

Varsity Baseball

The Sky's the Limit

Covina High's Varsity Baseball team had an extremely successful 1982 season. Following yet another C.I.F. Championship — the club's second in three years — they were expected by many to go far. Though many of last year's team members were lost to the class of '81, the Colts were still highly ranked. They were led by two of the best pitchers in C.I.F. — co-aces Tom Gorman and Mike Asbury. Both made all C.I.F. in '81 with Asbury receiving C.I.F. Co-Players of the Year Award. They both had an impressive '82 season against the tough Valle Vista League and playoff opponents. The heart of the offense was supplied by returning outfielders Darren Dirks and Adam Cisneros, who also provided the speed on the basepaths. Leading this strong defensive team was second year varsity infielder Jim Payne who played consistently well all season. The Covina Colts proved once again that they were one of the best teams in C.I.F.

The Junior Varsity Baseball Team was lead by the coaching of Mr. Paul Abrams and Mr. John Kennerknecht. The team did a fine job representing the school as they finished with an impressive record. The main goal of all team members was to improve their playing ability. Now with two and three years of playing experience behind them, the team is looking forward to an exciting varsity year ahead.

The Freshman Baseball Team, headed by Coach Doug London and Coach Charles Beal, proved that the team was a winner from the beginning. This year was very important to these young players. Playing in their first year of high school level baseball, the team members gained valuable experience and skills. The skills they have gained will hopefully be used in the following years on their journey to varsity level.

Leave the Driving to Us

Because of a strong need to categorize, the layman often refers to the game of golf as a "gentleman's sport." In truth, the quality of this misunderstood activity cannot be fully or even partly described by the word "sport." The mysterious satisfaction derived from golf is not paralleled by anything in football or hockey.

Golf is an art and unlike any sport does not require a group; a continual quest for objective perfection. In reality, the art of golf is centered around a search for inner peace. When this peace of mind or sense of intrinsic spirituality is obtained, the lead intellect to the perfection of the game itself. When the player is at peace with himself, golf becomes a medium joining the chasm between the force of pure thought and the physical world of precision. When this happens, the player will know the real game has been won.

Covina High's golf team, an institution created in 1969, is led by Mr. Phil Roche who describes the game's objective as "enjoyment." A member of the Vale Vista League, Covina's golf team attended eighteen matches and four tournaments during most the season. Both the coach and his players are satisfied only when subjected to harsh competition. This is why Mr. Roche and his group of thirty-two golfers spend the season seeking out only the best teams.

This year has provided Covina's golf program with a promising youthful group. Joe Anton, the only returning letterman on the varsity team, is helping to pave the way to victory along with Rob Edgell, Doug Boots, Jay Barnett and sophomores Jeff Carlson, Tom Hartman and Bill Smalley.

These varsity members and the twenty-five others of the program no doubt achieved their position through an innumerable amount of practice, concentration and hours of fanning heavy steel tubs beneath an afternoon sun. Surely the Covina golfing force stirs terror in many hearts when they walk out any given course brandishing glinting chrome clubs.

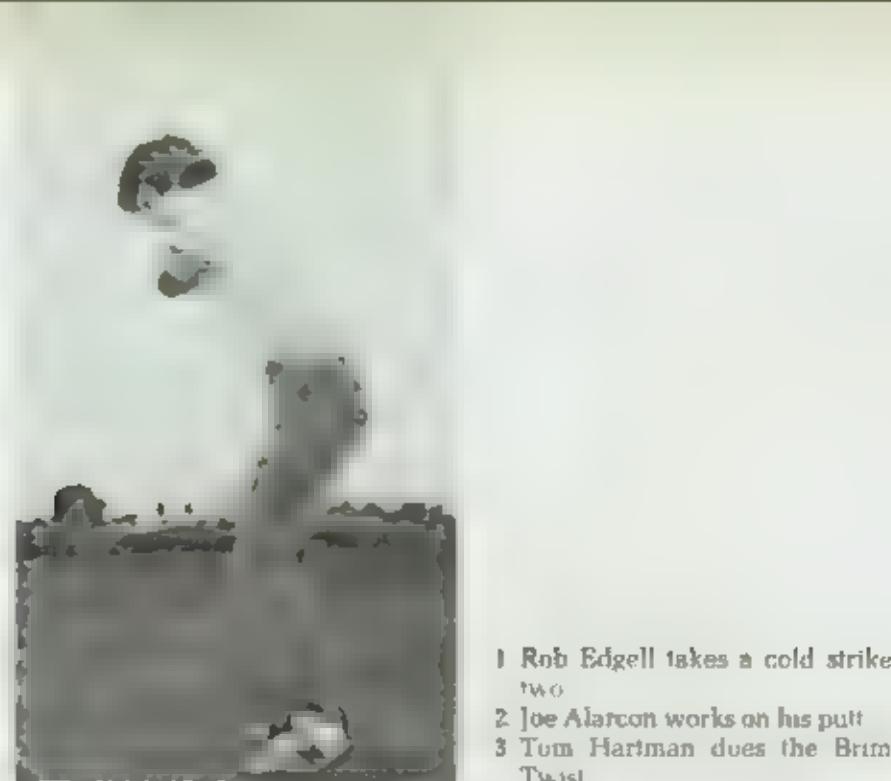

One doesn't have to be well-versed in the laws of the conservation of momentum or any other principle of Newtonian physics to master the art of golf. But it is necessary for a player to understand the relation between a peaceful mind and the control of matter. Once these two are coordinated, the player has not only won the game of golf, he has won happiness.

Service is Our Style

THE SUCCESS of the 1982 Boys' Varsity Tennis team represents the culmination of countless hours of dedication and hard work combined with seemingly limitless talent and an unquenchable thirst of victory. Despite pre-season allegations that they were all a bunch of quitters and losers the team combined forces in striving to re-establish the winning tradition of Covina Tennis.

Although Covina has narrowly missed a first place finish each of the past two years, the team left little doubt that they were indeed out to claim the league title that they believed to have been rightfully theirs. Of the six returning lettermen who composed the nucleus of the squad, four, Chris Ender, Brian Corder, Ray Slaboda, and Rodney Sturdivant, also held the distinction of being three-year lettermen. The other two seniors, Paul Schmitt and Steve Anderson also contributed heavily to the 1982 season's labeling as a "banner year" for Covina Tennis. Under the direction of Head Coach Mike Ofner, the Colts were taught a high degree of appreciation for the game of tennis as well as the sportsmanship and emotional maturity that goes along with athletic competition. In addition to their obvious blessings in personal growth, the team was also apparently smiled upon in the more tangible area of talent distribution. Last year, the dominating play of Covina's number one doubles team, Brian Corder and Chris Ender, led them to a second place finish in the league finals. Rodney Sturdivant, who still blames himself for the disappearance of last year's title hopes, got off to a rather slow start this year after missing two pre-season matches with a fractured sternum only to come back like the competitor he is and finish out the season in true Sturdivant fashion. Ray Slaboda, one of the team's few double-lettermen, was forced into a role of versatility, adjusting admirably to necessary fluctuations between doubles and number one singles on route to his most successful season with Covina Tennis to date.

Despite the fact that Tennis, by nature, is often characterized as strictly an individual sport, there is no doubt that the 1982 Varsity team transcended even the loftiest standards of camaraderie in their representation of Covina athletics at its best.

Boys' JV and Frosh/Soph Tennis

Tennis Anyone?

There were no huge cheering crowds watching these talented boys play tennis, yet they diligently attended each and every match themselves.

The JV team practiced long, strenuous hours on the CHS tennis courts in hopes of making the whole school proud. This team, 3rd place in league last year, managed to conclude another successful season. During pre-season the JV team ended with a record of 5-1. Two Juniors, Darren Vilardo and Luis Hidalgo, and two sophomores Rob Wilken and Mark Terry were the only returning players to battle it out on the courts. These boys trained under the expert coaching of Mr. Mike Dole.

A strong back-up to the JV squad was the Frosh/Soph team, also coached by Mr. Mike Dole. The Frosh/Soph team had a hand full of talented freshmen and beginners in the ranks who eagerly competed throughout the year. These boys also practiced long, hard tedious hours in the want of perfection. Without fail these young athletes were there on the courts to face their opponents from other schools in the game of tennis.

Both the JV and Frosh/Soph tennis helped to carry on the Colts's fine tennis tradition and they all have years left playing tennis to improve this tradition.

Thrill of Victory

The Covina boys' and girls' Track Team under the new head coach, Mr. Rick Brown, got off to a great start. The team was filled with many new and young athletes, but it also had many returning letterman.

For the first time in many years, "EVERYONE" on the team was enthusiastic about the season. The team won more meets than any other in recent history. All the hard work and sweat paid off in outstanding performances by all involved.

Helping Coach Brown was Coach Tawnya Bowie in charge of the sprints. Coach Janet Homes made the distance runners move. Coach Norm Slosted helped the shot putters and pole vaulters. High jump and relays were under the direction of Coach Dave Casper.

Leading the team in the 100 and 220 was Tim Condon. Paul Flanagan and Luis Echeverria led the team in the long and triple jumps. Bill Lee led the team in the 880, mile and the 2 mile. Wayne Griffin was the team leader in the high and low hurdles.

Throughout the whole season the team progressed and became one of the strongest in the league. The future looks bright for this young team and with a lot of hard work the 1983 season will be even better.

In the spring of 1982, Badminton flew in full swing. Matches were held every Tuesday and Thursday at 3:15, not stopping for a minute. The crowds flocked into the gym to observe the team in awe. Birdies flew everywhere, especially down Covina's opponents' throats. The strong Varsity teams couldn't be stopped with players such as first-seeded Margie Reno, third year Varsity; second-seeded Lisa Cox, second year Varsity; and the boys' team leader, Mike Beckwith. Every person on the Varsity singles team was a returning experienced player. They demonstrated their talents very well. The "Big Birds" of the nest were Coach Marc Haygood and Coach Nancy Pennell.

Boys' Swimming

Take the Colt Plunge

The Boys' Varsity Swim Team, under the coaching of Mr. Richard Bash, had a fine season. Tom Addington, an outstanding swimmer, led the way for the Colt Swim Team for the fourth year in a row. All the fine swimmers had a good attitude towards their sport and their opponents. Senior Mark Arvidson also swam consistently well throughout the season. Rookie Byron Young, an outstanding athlete, was a great asset in his first year on the team.

The Girls' Varsity Swim Team under the head coaching of Mr. Richard Bash had an extremely good season. Coach Bash, although new on the Covina campus, inspired the girls and brought out the best in all of them. Sophomore Tonya Williams who is following in her sister Lori's footsteps, also proved her worth to the Varsity team this year. On the Varsity level, Felicia Fraijo and Lori Foreman also showed their extreme value to the '82 team. On the J.V. level, Chris Keith and Marsha Smith, were very involved in training for their future on the Varsity team.

Girls' Varsity Softball Smooth Moves

The girls' varsity softball team, coached by Dennis Burke, opened the season with confidence and high hopes of a victorious season. The team was fairly experienced with several returning players from the 1981 season. The very important assets to the team were the 4 returning seniors: Mary Branconier, who was injured in the pre-season, Debbie Burke, a fine secondbase person, Dionthe Christy, the ace pitcher, and Robin Letourneau, a superb catcher and number 1 hitter. Other standouts were junior, Evelyn Guerero, pitcher, and Yvette Apodaca with a hot bat.

The girls worked as a team and cheered each other on. The morale was always high at every game.

Dennis Burke was in his first year as a coach for the girls' varsity team at Covina High. He added new plays and strategies making the game more interesting for the players and viewers alike.

Girls' J.V. Softball

Don't Worry, I Got the Signal

A large turnout of enthusiastic girls showed up in spring for the 1982 tryouts for softball. A total of 23 girls made the J.V. team compared to the 11 that played on last year's team. There were only 4 returning players, senior Lynn Bordelon, sophomore, Joanne Cowie, sophomore, Kim Locke, and junior, Michelle Meyers, but the spirit and talent of the newcomers led the squad to a prosperous season.

Impressive performances were given by junior, Breanne Burke, pitcher, Joanne Cowie, sophomore, Kristy Fuller and junior, Tracy Miller.

The J.V. squad was coached by the experienced Carol Hockenberry. She guided the girls in the basics of the game and taught them a well organized offense and defense for a winning team.

Make It Better Make It Junior Class

The Junior Class, under the efficient leadership of President, Maria Piscopo, worked enormously hard to make the Junior-Senior prom, held at the sensational Registry Hotel, a big success with music furnished by the band Surge. The class of '83 Council did such things as candy apple sales, bake sales, and sold an assortment of other things throughout the year. They not only raised a profitable amount of money, but they also showed their class spirit at rallies and other school events. They set many goals for the year, one being to make the 1982 Jr.-Sr. prom the best Covina High had ever seen.

The President was aided by her right hand woman and very dependable Vice-President, Marissa Pocius, who together made a compatible team. They were assisted by a very helpful and supporting council of over twenty members strong, willing to do anything asked of them in regards to their class. The council was busy all year working on the prom. Each member had many responsibilities and jobs to complete and in the end everything came together which made the prom a success.

Now that our Junior year at Covina High School has come to an end, I, as President of the Junior class this past year, must say, least for myself, it has been wonderful. Looking back at all the things we (as Juniors) have done, from taking the PSAT in the fall to successfully pulling off a spectacular prom in the spring, we have had a fun time and became closer friends through it all. We have matured drastically since our freshman year and are anxiously awaiting to step up the ladder to becoming mighty seniors.

For myself, being elected by my class as President was a great honor and a highlight of my years so far at Covina. I would like to thank everyone who made this opportunity for me worthwhile experience. It has given me a better outlook on life and showed me that your friends are always around to help get the job done. In closing, I would like to say that our Junior class has been a great group of people to represent and I will never forget this past year.

Maria Piscopo

Sophomores Moving Up

The Sophomore class council started a very successful year with great leadership. The class was lead by Kim Locke, President, an experienced person in leadership. Helping Kim were Lisa Tanner, Vice-President, Florence Wong, Treasurer, and Charlene Barrett as Secretary. The class legislators were Debbie Ryan, Rosie Martinez, Adora Umaguing, and Greg Stephenson. This dedicated class council, under the supervision of Mr. Prieur, hope to accomplish three goals; raise money for the prom, consideration for others, and keep participation going throughout the year. They had a number of fundraisers which included an aluminum can drive, bake sales, school dances, and car washes. The year '81-'82 was exciting for the class of '81, getting more involved with school and gaining experience at the same time, but also "moving up" to upper classmen.

In September '81, 353 freshmen nervously started their high school education at Covina High. Some were confident, some scared, but no one was bored with the idea of this new experience.

The freshmen had a lot of spirit. The whole school was surprised at how much enthusiasm they showed during the rallies and activities throughout the year. Many freshmen participated in the school clubs and team sports. Girls were involved in Girls League and G.A.A. and wrestling, tennis, and baseball teams. The class of '85 was also well represented in the colossal Colt Band and in the choral and drama groups. As Class President, I was very lucky to have reliable officers and dependable council members. Michelle Iovino was Vice-President, Joelle Nieto, Secretary, Julianne Wiggins, Treasurer. The legislators were Matt Quillicy, Tom Peterson, Kristi Fuller, and David Alexander. The class council members were Amado Umaguing, Kim Bechard, Ken Goodman, Chris Schaefer, Chris Watson, Jim Cartinal, Gina Gonzales, Debbie Gomez, Tami Fraisl, and Wendy Gregory. They were an enthusiastic group and were fun to work with. In November, several of us went to a CASC Camp at Excelsior High School. We learned many different ideas for fund raisers, and got advice on how to plan for our Junior-Senior Prom. Thanks to the many fund raisers we held during the year, we have a good head start towards financing our Prom. These included a Colt Sweat Shirt Sale and so forth.

I would like to thank Mr. Murcer, our class advisor, and Mr. Butcher for helping us so much during the year.

It has been a long year for us freshmen, and sometimes we thought it would never end. But somehow we have survived the worst fate of all, ten months of being known as SQUIDS.

You're in Good Hands

Principal

Dean of Boys
Frank Haven

Under the leadership of Principal Robert Earl, Covina High had an interesting, productive year. Mr. Earl not only handled school responsibilities wisely, but also remained on top of community activities and was subsequently named "Citizen of the Year" by the Covina Lions Club.

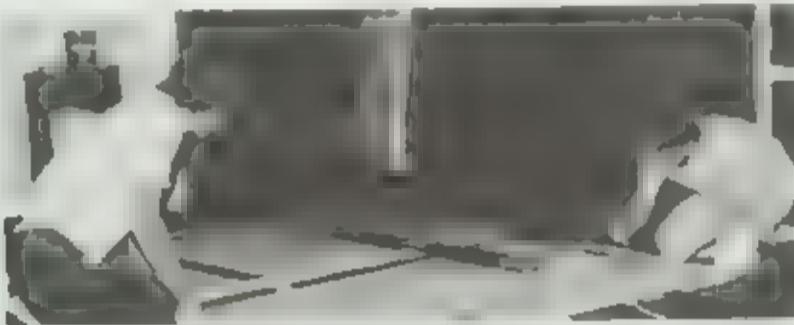

Working beside Mr. Earl, and in charge of all academic and teacher-related problems was Mr. Gale Cluff. Mr. Cluff always took the time to socialize with students, and was thus, well liked.

The two deans, Mr. Frank Haven and Mrs. Joan Delzangle brought order and discipline to the general student body, yet managed to remain popular throughout the year. Mr. Haven also assisted the "Narcs" during brunch with his own walkie-talkie. Mrs. Delzangle was also an adviser of Girls' League.

Faculty

We Bring You Closer to Graduation

Covina High boasted a talented teaching staff during the 81-82 school year. Although many students often complained, the faculty was generally well liked. These teachers taught some students what were to be their last educational facts. A great deal rested on their shoulders, but they continued to prove this easy by giving hundreds of kids an education they will always remember.

We Bring Good Things to Life

Mrs. Hertel, Mrs. Kelley, and Mr. Smith continued to aid students with personal or academic problems throughout the entire school year. For juniors and especially seniors, the thought of future college lives was very scary. For freshmen and sophomores, the transition to high school was often brutal. The Covina high counselors did their best to help all of these students become better adapted and to enjoy school and the prospect of more school.

From the ancient Greeks to current affairs, the History department answered any and all the questions which came up during the school year. With a wide variety of historical subjects and current happenings the students could not help but be interested in such curriculum even though most of the History classes were mandatory for graduation

The foreign language department, consisting of several levels of Spanish, French and German, offered the students at Covina High a chance to achieve a broader scope of academic knowledge. The Spanish department also had a foreign exchange program with Xalapa, Mexico.

Doing what you want and doing it well was emphasized in the Art and Music Departments

The Art Department, headed by Mr. Hoag, offered such courses as beginning and commercial art, intermediate and advanced art, which helped some of the gifted students express their talents

The instrumental and choral music group, which were conducted by Mr. Green and Dr. Bacon-Shone respectively, added the sweet sounds of harmony throughout the school year

Aides and Secretaries We're Doing Our Share

The secretaries and aides at Covina High were a tremendous help to the administration, the faculty and even the students during the 1981-1982 school year. These irreplaceable people were responsible for maintaining many offices and classrooms alike. Without them, many students and adults would have been completely lost.

"Narks" and Custodians

Get a Fresh Start Every Day

The custodians played an important role in Colt Pride during the year. Without them, students, faculty, and administration would have had to return to a miserably dirty campus each day. Who could be proud of that? These hard-working people toiled to all hours of the evening trying to clean up the carelessly thrown about trash, for which the students were responsible. Every morning Colts were undeservingly rewarded with a sparkling campus after leaving such a disgusting mess.

TOTAL TESTING CAPABILITY...

Semiconductor Reliability
Laboratories
Has It

We put about one million devices over the hurdles every four weeks. How do we do it? We're the newest, most modernly equipped test lab around. Our capability is complete, our equipment more flexible and our staff of component reliability test engineers is one of the most experienced ever assembled under one roof.

We use the most advanced techniques and latest equipment for environmental screening, including temperature cycling and thermal shock. Our centrifuge applies up to 30,000 G's to uncover weak bonds and poor die attachments. We detect gross leaks with sophisticated fluorocarbon techniques and fine leaks with Krypton 85 and radiographic scintillation counters.

With 51 chambers and over 830,000 positions, we can burn-in more than 1,000,000 devices a month — at maximum junction temperature, not at some arbitrarily selected temperature.

For complete electrical testing, we offer a broad range of sophisticated test equipment, such as Teradyne's J283 computer-controlled system for static, parametric and functional tests on CMOS, ROMs, shift registers and other digital devices. For linear devices we use Teradyne's J149 software programmable tester. The versatility of this system permits testing with a wide variety of parameters, including "custom spec's." Fact is, we have a host of modern systems for testing virtually every type of microelectronic device made.

Our capability, delivery and service could make a big difference to you this month. Give us a call today.

We've Got the Look

of this year's Cardinal was "designed with you in mind." The staff has worked hard, yet had a lot of fun, in paraphrasing many familiar TV jingles and slogans. We hope you will recognize them and always be reminded of the "signs of our times."

This year's Cardinal staff is proud of their work and should be, for they were part of the smoothest flowing, best organized production in many years. Much credit must go to Mrs. Watkins for helping us in many hours of planning and organizing, through a crisis here and there, and a million other details. Mr. Bud Gibone deserves a special thanks for the excellent pictures, many times being asked to produce numerous photos in just a few hours! He is a hard-working man and greatly appreciated.

Jane Kasel and the Taylor Publishing Company have been great to work with and have our sincere gratitude for putting up with a few missed deadlines, etc., and still doing such a fine job for us. We have learned many things from you, Jane, and hope your association with Covina High will continue for many years to come.

Most of all, we want to thank you, all the Covina Colts, because we "got the signal" from you. We hope you like our edition of the Cardinal and get that "good to the last line feeling" because it is "filled to the rim" as we've tried to "bring the good things to life."

As the 1982 school year comes to a rapid close, we graduates are reminded that "it's the real thing" out there, but we've made it this far and "the best is yet to come." So, keep after that diploma, Colts, and "Don't I have a right without it?"
